*In today's corporate environment, speed is everything.
The faster companies can respond to changing business conditions, bring innovative products and services to market or effectively integrate acquisitions, the quicker they are able to reap the rewards.*

We've trained many companies with this great process which not only increases reading speed, but dramatically increases comprehension and productivity, with ripple effects throughout every task. Reading is the primary input path for nearly all workplace information, yet nearly everyone is dissatisfied with the way they read, thinks learning is boring and hard, and everyone is struggling to keep up.

The speed reading corporate workshop is designed to provide more than speed reading skills. We show you how to apply them in a process designed for business productivity. You'll learn to say "great" when your boss hands you a 250-page report for a meeting happening in an hour. You will read and digest it – and learn it - creating a full sheet of state-of-the-art notes for that meeting that will put you way ahead. The note-taking technique you will learn will revolutionize the way you capture information from your reading, Internet research, meetings, and phone conversations.

Learn to digest that stack of 40 articles you have been meaning to read in half an hour! Visit dozens of websites and capture the information you need quickly and efficiently. And manage your email inbox in a way you never thought possible!

The price is, as you would expect, based on number attending, but we keep the costs reasonable. Our corporate programs subsidize the public programs where low income students and others can get the training.

Included in the corporate program:

☐ A meeting with you to determine your company's challenges and priorities.
☐ Lifetime phone and email support for questions.
☐ Access to our website with tips and free practice downloads.
☐ In 3 to 6 months, we will come back for a one to two hour refresher for no extra charge (If you are in the Puget Sound region).
☐ Ongoing email motivational tips and practice ideas.
☐ Families of participants can take any public class for a dramatically reduced price.

For businesses in the Greater Seattle or Bellevue region, there is no charge for travel. For out of area training, actual costs are billed.

Start your company out on an a path toward enhanced productivity and success today.
